PRO-plast product information:

■ trade names/registered trademarks

The trade mark names listed are normally protected trade names of the respective raw material manufactures and therefore their property.

PRO-plast and TT-Compounds® are property of PRO-plast Kunststoff GmbH.

Trade mark names and type designations used by us in connection with regranulate/reprocessed or regrind/milled material provide information about the origin of the material. In this way, we inform our customers about which starting material a recycling material has been produced from.

For example: RP/regranulate material „ex Dupolan 8205“ means that the starting material for this regranulate before the first processing was Dupolan 8205. Also see below: Suitability/Use/Composition.

■ Color number in the case of recycling material

If, in the case of recycling material, we mention the color number of the original virgin material, this is again to provide information about the origin of the recycling material. We thus provide guidance about the approximate shade. The shade of plastics may change as a result of the processing and/or recycling process and may be slightly different from the shade of the original product.

For example:

RP/regranulate XYZ “ex grey 07/349” means that the starting color for this regranulate before the first processing was “grey 07/349”. The original shade may have slightly changed as a result of the processing/preparation process.

■ RAL-figures

RAL color index is based on appearance. Thus inaccuracies are unavoidable. Should RAL color numbers be taken as reference, then they should be viewed solely as indicators. On each page GELBE LISTE you will find therefore our note „RAL about ...“. The degree to which the RAL index correlates to the material being considered, under all light conditions, should be determined by the processor himself/herself.

General rule for virgin material and Regranulate:

Should a specific color tone be required, samples should be requested for processing trials!

■ Suitability/ Use/ Composition

The preceding information, as well as all other information and advice provided either directly or indirectly in electronic, written or oral form, is provided to the best of our knowledge at that point in time. They should be viewed as reference without obligation, also with regards to the legal rights of third parties. The onus remains on the purchaser to carry out his/her own verifications. Moreover, the selection, processing and usage of the raw materials remain the responsibility of the customer. All comments relating to suitability, use and composition should be viewed as indicators. Detailed technical support is available from the literature of the relevant material supplier.

■ Virgin material

Raw materials offered in the catalogue or on the Surplus Exchange are categorized with the utmost care and allocated to their corresponding raw material group. When one considers the multitude of products available on the market, inaccuracies during this allocation are unavoidable. Numerous references are made to the fact that, in many cases, the virgin material on offer is no longer “fresh from production”. Formulations may well have changed since the product was manufactured. Thus the processing and usage of surplus materials requires increased care and attention, and, if need be, intensive pre-drying.

Packaging is mainly the original packaging of the producers, which means with label, lot-number etc., rarely repacked in neutral packaging.

■ Recyclate (regranulate/regrind)

Potential applications for recyclates with a notification of origin can be determined from those of the virgin material. However, the same level of properties as those found in virgin material cannot be guaranteed. It should be noted that thermoplastic moulding compounds can become “degraded” after multiple melts, and thus lose some of their properties. It should also be noted that the technical values of a recyclate can vary by a greater degree than with virgin material, and values from lot to lot can differ greatly. Before using recyclates, we therefore advise that particularly stringent processing and suitability controls be carried out, and that additional quality control measures be implemented during processing. This is particularly the case should the recyclate be used partially or entirely as a replacement of virgin material.

■ Test certificates/Material data sheets

Virgin material - Virgin material offered on the exchange are, in the most cases, individual items/lots in their original packaging sourced from polymer processors. Test certificates for these materials are not always available. In general they are of A1 quality. This means the products met their specifications at the time of their production.

Regranulate/repro - Quality certificates can be provided for most regranulates, depending on quantity and agreement.

Material data sheets can be requested from the raw material producers.

■ Availability/additional supplies

Most material offered on the exchange are individual lots, of which there are either limited or no additional supplies. We therefore recommend to plan your basic supply and primarily to base your cost estimation on raw materials availability is warranted.

Useful tips:

■ Matter of price?

Please do not hesitate to contact us: Found a lot which is interesting but the price is not? Perhaps we can find a way.

■ RAL-figures – Color numbers

We give RAL-figures as a reference. They are based on appearance, therefore this information is not binding. In case a specific color is required: Please ask for a sample! Also we mention color-numbers with regranulates made of singular brand/type categories, we mention them as a reference. Please note: After multiple melts thermoplastic moulding compounds can „degrade“ and thus lose some of their properties as well as their former color to some extent (compared with virgin material).

■ Regrind or regranulate?

Regrind is, compared to regranulate, less expensive and thermally less strained. If a regrind is checked for metal pollution, dust is removed or decreased and it has a suitable particle size, there are not many reasons against choosing regrind (every moulder has his own experiences with regrind already).

Reganulate has a higher level of quality and is more elegant to handle: After reprocessing there will be homogeneous granulates with identical properties from first to last bag. Potential pollution, metal etc. will be removed. Conveying, dose, blending, drawing-in is similar to virgin material. It is possible to receive representative samples and to generate test certificates from each lot.

■ No space in your warehouse?

Do you like to sell surplus raw materials? In case unwanted/ not even longer used goods occupies expensive and tight storage place: Inform us about your obsolete goods. Use our form, which is enclosed in this catalog. We will come back to you promptly.

1. General matters

Our General Sale and Supply Conditions shall apply exclusively; we shall not recognize any conditions on the part of the purchaser which are inconsistent with or different from our General Sale and Supply Conditions, unless we have expressly agreed in writing that they are to apply. Our General Sale and Supply Conditions shall also apply if we effect delivery to the purchaser without reservation in the knowledge of conditions on the part of the purchaser which are inconsistent with or different from our sale conditions.

We shall be entitled to store and to process personal data regarding the purchaser which we have received directly or indirectly, pursuant to the German Federal Data Protection Act (Bundesdatenschutzgesetz).

Our General Sale and Supply Conditions shall apply only in respect of businessmen, legal entities under public law and public-law special funds within the meaning of § 310(1) of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch).

Our General Sale and Supply Conditions shall also apply to all future transactions with the purchaser.

2. Offer – Order – Order confirmation – Dates/transportation/delivery – Purchase obligation

Our offers shall always be subject to alteration until an order is accepted. Oral or telephone orders placed by the purchaser shall be binding on the purchaser. A binding purchase contract shall only come into existence on receipt of our written order confirmation. Agreements made on our part by employees who are not entitled to represent the company shall not however be binding on us unless they are confirmed by a person entitled to represent the company.

In the case of special items and other one-off batches, we reserve the right for the quantities actually delivered to be up to 10% less or more than the confirmed quantities and to charge accordingly. Unless otherwise agreed, the statutory provisions shall apply where the surpluses or deficits are more than 10%.

The qualities, delivery dates and quantities stated by us shall in all cases be subject to the proviso that delivery to us is made correctly, at the proper time and in sufficient quantities. If we are liable for default in delivery, the purchaser may cancel the contract, subject to the statutory requirements.

Our shipments shall be sent at the purchaser's risk, even in the case of carriage-paid delivery. If the purchaser maintains a consignment store, he shall bear the risk of loss or damage to the goods belonging to us which are stored by him.

The recipient of goods shall immediately check incoming goods for any obvious transport damage. Such damage must be recorded in writing on the delivery documents in the presence of the carrier/driver and must be signed by the carrier/driver.

If the purchaser delays acceptance of goods or is culpably in breach of any other collaboration obligations, we shall be entitled to demand compensation for the loss incurred by us in that respect, including any additional expenditure. Additional claims are reserved.

3. Sample – Technical advice

The samples provided by us and our technical and other information shall serve merely as a general description of the goods. They contain no guarantee as to quality or durability and shall not exempt the purchaser from the obligation to check the individual delivery.

We provide advice as to use to the best of our knowledge. Where we provide such advice free of charge, it is non-binding and shall not exempt the purchaser from examining every delivery before processing to ensure that it is suitable for the intended use.

4. Check on receipt – Claims about defects – Limitation period

The purchaser shall check the goods after receipt of the goods or after the power of disposal has passed to him, if necessary by means of sampling. Apparent defects shall be reported within five working days of delivery, and concealed defects shall be reported within three working days of being discovered. The purchaser must give us the opportunity to check and inspect the defect, in situ if requested. If this is refused, the goods shall be deemed to have been accepted without complaint.

Regrind plastic and pellets basically does not fulfill all kinds of sector-specific regulations and compliances. In case of doubt, it requires any individual examination

In the case of regrind plastic and pellets, small impurities and slight differences and variations in the shade of color do not constitute a defect and do not justify a complaint.

Where we have reprocessed and then supplied used plastics (regrind/pellets etc.) on a contract basis or on our own account, we shall merely be liable for proper reprocessing. We shall not be additionally liable for defects of any kind in the goods supplied, unless we have previously guaranteed certain qualities in writing.

Goods which are the subject of complaint may not be returned without our express agreement.

Where there is a defect in the purchased item, we shall firstly be entitled and obliged to rectify the defect (rectification of defects) before the purchaser can make any further defect claims. However, we shall in any event be exempt from the obligation to supply non-defective goods (replacement goods) by way of subsequent performance. The limitation period for defect claims shall be 12 months, calculated from the passing of risk, unless we have fraudulently concealed the defect, caused the defect intentionally or by gross negligence or have given a guarantee in respect of the relevant quality of the goods.

5. Limitation of liability

We shall be liable in the case of intentional acts or fraud, under the German Product Liability Act (Produkthaftungsgesetz) or if the quality guaranteed by us is not present, and we shall be liable for losses arising from death, physical injury or damage to health, in accordance with the statutory provisions.

If we are guilty of gross negligence, our liability shall be restricted to the foreseeable loss which is typical under the contract.

For cases of minor negligence, liability for compensation in place of performance (§ 281 German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch – BGB)) shall be excluded. In the case of minor negligence, additionally, we shall not be liable for any legal reason whatsoever unless an important contractual obligation is contravened, i.e. an obligation the non performance of which will make the proper conduct of the contract impossible and which the purchaser normally expects, and is entitled to expect, to be maintained (e.g. obligation to deliver the goods without defects in quality and at the proper time). In this case, our liability shall also be limited to the foreseeable loss which is typical under the contract. Notwithstanding this provision, our liability in respect of losses for delay caused by minor negligence shall however be limited, in terms of quantum, to 5% of the value of that part of the total delivery which, as a result of the delay, cannot be used at the proper time or in accordance with the contract.

Unless any provision to the contrary is made above, any further liability to pay compensation or to refund expenditure, for any legal reason whatsoever, shall be excluded.

The above liability provisions shall apply accordingly if the purchaser demands a refund of expenditure in place of compensation.

6. Payment – Credit – Retention of title

Unless otherwise provided in the order confirmation, the purchase price shall be payable immediately without any deduction after receipt of the invoice.

The value-added tax applicable at the time of invoicing shall be added to all prices. If the VAT rate changes within the charging period, the periods with the VAT rates respectively applicable shall be regarded as separate charging periods.

We shall be entitled to refuse to accept checks and bills of exchange, and we shall accept them only by way of performance. Discounts, taxes and expenses shall be borne by the issuing party.

In the event of delay, we shall be entitled to demand interest for delay at 8% above the respective base interest rate (ECB), unless we have incurred a greater loss. The purchaser shall be entitled to prove that we have incurred no loss or only a slight loss. We shall also be entitled to cease deliveries, even under different contracts. If we thereby suffer a loss, we may demand compensation. At the same time, all other claims shall become payable.

Offsetting shall be excluded except against claims which are undisputed and which have been established with legal finality. The purchaser shall not be entitled to assert a right to refuse payment or a right of retention except on the basis of claims which are undisputed or established with legal finality and which are based on the same contractual relationship.

Rights arising from purchase contracts with us shall not be assigned to third parties. Goods which have not been paid for in full may not be pledged or transferred by way of security; they shall instead be specifically protected against seizure by third-parties. The purchaser shall without undue delay notify us of any seizures, arrests or other third party actions.

The purchaser shall without undue delay notify us in writing in the event of changes in the circumstances of ownership (change of control), the company form or other facts affecting the credit assessment.

Goods which have been delivered shall remain our property until they have been paid for in full. They may be handled or processed on our behalf in such a manner that we are regarded as owners or joint owners of the item (goods subject to reservation of title). If the purchaser resells the item, he hereby assigns to us the corresponding claims arising from the sale. We shall have the right to inspect goods subject to reservation of title or the new item at any time and to mark them accordingly. The purchaser shall permit us to enter his premises for this purpose.

At the purchaser's request, we shall release the securities to which we are entitled, at our choice, to the extent that the value of our securities exceeds the claims to be secured by more than 20%.
